

Deltek Costpoint Hot Fix Readme

Release Date: September 14, 2018

Process Benefit Election End Dates for Past Pay Periods

When Costpoint added Deduction/Contribution Timing methods to the Update Employee Package Deductions processing, the functionality removed the ability to update deduction end dates if the benefit end date fell in a pay period prior to the open pay period. This change affected users who did not run the Update Employee Package Deductions process every pay period. For example, the employee's benefit election end date was 07/26/18, the open pay period was 08/01/18 - 08/15/18, and you did not run the process was for the 07/16/18 – 07/31/18 pay period. When you ran the Update Employee Package Deductions process, the application did not assign a deduction end date for that benefit election because the end date fell within a past pay period.

This Costpoint release provides the ability to process benefit election end dates from prior pay periods as long as the pay period ended within 12 months prior to the open pay period start date. This functionality benefits you if you do not run the Update Employee Package Deductions process every pay period and have benefit elections that ended in a prior, unprocessed pay period.

To support this feature, the Update Employee Package Deduction screen contains a new Prior End Date Processing drop-down list where you can select to analyze/process the end dates of benefit elections up to 12 months prior to the open pay period start date. The screen layout was updated to accommodate this change.
