Release Date: April 1, 2019

Washington Paid Family and Medical Leave

The Washington Paid Family and Medical Leave program is a new state-run insurance benefit which was passed by the legislature in 2017. The program will allow most Washington employees to receive up to 12 weeks of paid leave for the following reasons:

- Bonding after the birth or placement of a child.
- An employee's serious health condition.
- A serious health condition of a qualifying family member.
- Certain military events.

The Paid Family and Medical Leave program is being phased-in over the next year. Washington workers will be able to use Paid Family and Medical Leave benefits starting in January 1, 2020.

Part of the program requires Washington employers to quarterly report employee wages, hours worked, and other information for all employees to the Washington State Employment Security Department. For the year 2019 only, reporting for quarters one and two (Q1 2019 and Q2 2019) must be submitted by July 31, 2019.

The quarterly Paid Family and Medical Leave reports must include the following information:

- Employee's full name.
- Employee's Social Security number. If an employee does not have a Social Security number but does have an individual taxpayer identification number (ITIN), the ITIN qualifies as a Social Security number. If the employee later obtains a Social Security number, the employer should use the Social Security number when filing the report of the employee's wages.
- Employee wages paid during that quarter and the associated hours.
- Total amount of premiums deducted from all employees' wages, if any, during the calendar quarter.

To allow employers to comply with Washington requirements, this release includes a new Costpoint application that provides the ability to generate the Paid Family and Medical Leave report. You can access the new application in Costpoint People » Leave » Leave Reporting » Print Washington State Paid Family & Medical Leave Report.

Attention: Before using the new application, you need to set up the Washington State Family and Medical Leave deduction code and assign it to eligible employees. Please refer to the online help of the Print Washington State Paid Family & Medical Leave Report screen for details on how to set up your data before generating the report.

Note: To ensure that your company fully complies with Washington's requirements, please refer to the information available in the state's website, <https://esd.wa.gov/paid-family-medical-leave>.
